

KINE2700 : Leadership in Outdoor Recreation

This course introduces the history of outdoor leadership, resources, program planning, and design and management. An emphasis on outdoor leadership theory, understanding group facilitation and teaching strategies will be the central focus of the course. Successful completion prepares a student to design and lead outdoor educational activities.

Credits 3

Semester Offered

Alternate years.