

LEAD1001 : Professionalism: Opportunities and Responsibilities

This course introduces students to a larger awareness of how responsible engagement with the experiences and opportunities they have while in college may give them the best advantage toward success while in college and with their transition to professional roles or continued education after graduation.

Credits 0-1