

BIOL3300 : Herpetology

A survey of the structure, function, ecology and systematics of amphibians and reptiles (herpetology). Representative taxa from the Pacific Northwest will provide field context for these explorations, while laboratory explorations will utilize diverse taxonomic representatives. Course will include identification of Idaho amphibian and reptile species.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

BIOL2220, BIOL2230, or instructor's approval.

Corequisites

BIOL3300L

Semester Offered

Alternate years.